

Volunteer Partnerships for West Africa presents:

Street Library Ghana Project

Bringing a mobile library to villages and communities across the Eastern Region of Ghana!!

Would you like to be a part of a good cause to support the spread of knowledge and education in the Eastern Region of Ghana? Do you have any old books (textbooks, dictionaries, atlases, novels, children's books, etc.) lying around your classroom, bedroom, basement or attic? If so, YOU can make a difference in the lives of many!!! The Street Library Project, brain child of the locally founded NGO Volunteer Partnerships for West Africa (VPWA), has created a concept of a mobile library that brings the books to the people.

Outside main cities in Ghana, the idea of a school/community library is currently but a dream... but *we are trying to make this dream a reality with The Street Library

Project, providing children, adolescents and adults with access to reading material.*

We bring our collection of books with us, visiting local communities and villages, sharing our library with the people, spreading knowledge and bringing education and entertainment.

BUT WE NEED YOUR HELP! Due to the lack of resources available here in Ghana, we currently have a very poor selection of books, so VPWA is asking friends, family and acquaintances to help us help the rural people of Ghana.*

Any reading material you have is welcome... Any and all donations are MUCH appreciated!!!

You can send your donations to: (Be sure to mark the package with "donation to charity"!!!)
